ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

No other wagon can match Ford's features (or popularity!)

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can have an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon . . . it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field, only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward. There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel. There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more servicefree: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing. STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most . . . made by FORD . . . America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!

Is Everybody Keeping Cool?

passed the word to stay cool during the hottening crisis over Berlin.

We intend to heed their advice and hope they will do the same.

We intend to bear in mind at all times that the other side in this issue is trembling and bleeding. It's the Soviet Union that has agonized over the steady use of Berlin by East Germans fleeing from the intolerable prospect of Communist rule.

It's the Kremlin that never has assimilated the captured territory into the Communist bloc that has been embarrassed by revival of West German enterprise and the showcase success of West Germany deep inside East German territory.

Officials of the United States over a period o' years have fussed and fiddled with the Germar problem in a way that could have wracked the nerves of their constituents. But the truth is that the American people never have been unduly bothered about Berlin, except for worrying about what might happen to their soldier sons stationed there to preserve a status quo that reflected no credit on any of the misguided people responsible

At one time it might have been France, Italy or Britain. That was how close the showdown threatened to be after World War II. But now it is threatening to be Berlin, which for the Soviet Union would be what Korea came close to being and Laos would have been for the United States-a wrong war, in a wrong place, at a wrong time.

THAT DOES NOT rule out the possibility war might occur. It only minimizes the

Do-It-Yourself Farm Plan Dead

House Agriculture Committee have had no trouble seeing eye to eye on killing the Kenneay administration's farm plan.

This was the startling idea that farm commodity groups should be given authority to draft programs of control, price support and marketing programs, submit them to Congress for consideration and, if nothing which sometimes becomes a standoff behappened in 60 days, to put the programs tween the judical branch and one or both

This do-it-yourself version of agriculture control had two faults:

1. It violated the principle of government in a republic, which delegates certain powers to the federal government but does not provide for their re-delegation to economic minorities. The same error was made in the early days of the New Deal, when economic minorities under the National Re-Italy.

The comment concerns a Supreme Court ruling that Maryland could not require an officeholder to declare a belief in God as a qualification to hold office. The Maryland constitution had tried to get around the U.S. Constitution with a section that read:

"No religious test ought ever to be required as a qualification for any office of profit or trust in this state, other than a declaration of belief in the existence of

But the U.S. Constitution reads (Art. VI, Sect. 3): "... no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States."

This bars what the Supreme Court unanimously ruled was an unconstitutional religious test in the constitution of Maryland. It was one of a relatively few cases to come

Some of those who spoke to Dick Nixon feel there is nothing indefinite about either of these projects. He reportedly believes that to remain solely in the law business is to rest in limbo. It did not work for Adlai Stevenson.

It has obscured Tom Dewey. Nixon most certainly wants that second crack at John Kennedy. He can't get it, he has been saying, merely by writing, lecturing and traveling. If his friends heard him correctly, here's how he has been reasoning.

There is only a very narrow perch atop the Republican party for the roles of elder statesman and titular leader. And Dwight Eisenhower has his feet firmly planted on that apex.

Nor does it seem possible-as it did some months ago - for Nixon to remain the young activist leader of the GOP.

AT FIRST Nixon believed he could hold his national prestige as a vote-getter by moving into important campaigns and helping to mastermind victories for Republican candidates.

But John Tower, conservative, sent word from Texas and Jim win on their own. Tower, of course, did.

Mitchell, who became Nixon's

Mitchell is running as a close friend of labor. He appeared before and was applauded by the militant Jersey CIO. But it was his talk at the Jersey FL which really had the old-line leaders shaking the floor boards.

THAT APPLAUSE came when the ex-Republican labor secretary pledged support of something called common situs picketing. This would give the construction unions the right to picket just one job among many on a big construction project where there are many contractors, not all involved in a labor dispute. The law now forbids such picketing, lest it shut down the entire

Even after Mitchell broke his leg, he held bedside conferences with labor leaders. On the afternoon of Friday, June 23, for example, Howard Coughlin, president of the Office Employes' International Union, spent almost two hours with him at the Fitkin Memorial Hospital in Neptune, N.J., planning campaign strategy and a broader labor-political conference a week later.

Despite Nixon's popularity with the Republican party's professionals and an enthusiastic rank and file, he just couldn't keep talking and writing and traveling through these events.

So his friends now say he has more than merely indicated to them that he will run against Democratic Gov. Pat Brown, a hard campaigner who will have John Kennedy's heavy support.

A California victory - and he Nixon-Mitchell ticket.

Thus went the talk at the gracious old Plaza the other night,

Nelson Rockefeller. If Mitchell wins this fall with heavy labor support, it won't hurt Rockefeller one bit in the 1962 gubernatorial election. At that time the New Yorker won't be happy with just his 575,-000 vote margin over the Democrats in '58. Mr. Rockefeller wants to roll up a million vote majority. Should Mitchell become governor of New Jersey, he would be a terrific campaigner for his

Dear Ann: I'm working with a brilliant real estate man, trying to learn the business.

The only problem is the office is in his home and his family drives me crazy. His wife phoned me at my home this evening to ask what he and I talk about all day. His daughter spent an hour today telling me how much money waitresses make and suggested that I consider it.

I love this work and don't want to give it up but I've gone to the doctor already because of my nerves. Is there any way I can get his family to leave me alone?

Dear V: Not so long as the office is in their home. If you like the business, get a job with another real estate firm - one with offices downtown.

Kennedy Prestige Hit

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Appointment Boomerangs on JFK

of the town in Washington is the damage done to the prestige of

govern the Dis- David Lawrence

After some startling revelations during a Senate hearing, the nomination was withdrawn a few days ago by the President. This was done ostensibily at the request of the appointee, but it turns out that White House staff members initiated the step. Now the question is whether he is to remain as a member of the Democratic the District of Columbia. The episode has little significance from the standpoint of racial controversy. For, while Frank Reeves is a Negro, it is certain that the man to be nominated in his place as district commissioner also will be a

the Kennedy a dministration

by the case of

Frank B.

Reeves. He

was nominated

on June 21 by the President to be one of the three commissioners who

trict of Columbia.

The real significance of the whole affair is the proved incompetence of the President's staff in checking up in advance on appointees, and the damage done to the Negro community itself for if ever there was an occasion to select the best-qualified Negro for a public post, it was when the President had before him the task of filling the vacancy on the district Board of Commissioners.

There are many Negroes in Washington - lawyers and businessmen-who could do an efficient job in this post. Reeves got the appointment as a political reward for services rendered. He has been for a year now the Democratic national committeeman for the district, and, without resigning that post, has been serving as a paid assistant on President Kenndy's staff at the White House.

What happened in checking on the qualifications of the prospective commissioner? The customary loyalty checks were made and were satisfactory, but nobody at the White House examined court records on tax liens.

THE REPUBLICANS learned of irregularities in the Reeves' tax payments, and raised a fuss before the Senate committee.

Evidence was brought forth there showing that over the last 10 years the nominee had not regularly paid his income taxes liens had been filed in the past by the federal government, as well as by the District of Columbia tax office, to enforce

There were delays, too, in filing returns. His 1952 return, for 1956, while his 1960 return, due on April 15, was not put in the mails until June 27-after the question of its filing had been raised in the Senate hearing.

The Reeves' explanation is that he was unable to keep up his earnings to pay his taxes because he spent so much time away from his law office working at his own expense with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He was at one time assistant counsel to the national group. But apart from tax matters, if the Reeves nomination had not been withdrawn, a "conflict of interest" charge would have been made by the Republicans because of his purchase of a $47,500 house in February of this year with a loan allegedly made by a prominent liquor dealer in Washington. It so happens that the new district commissioner will have supervision over the alcoholic beverage Control Board.

NO CHARGES of any criminal nature are involved but the question of whether the appointee is careless and whether he could handle efficiently the duties of a district commissioner-which are directly related to the collection of all local taxes-bothered some of the senators who were to vote on whether to confirm or reject the nomination.

Certainly the White House staff should have been more alert in dealing with the whole business. Doubtless a lesson has been learned which will help in checking up on other appointees.

But there is a broader issue involved which the incident accentuates. More than 750,000 people live in the District of Columbia. They have no voice at all in selecting their Board of Commissioners or the presiding member of the commission who is the equivalent of a mayor.

Despite all the hullabalu about "civil rights" elsewhere, the people in the District of Columbia are not permitted to vote their choice of city officials. A constitutional amendment has just been ratified which gives the citizens of the District of Columbia a chance to vote in 1964 and thereafter for president and vice president of the United States, but the privilege of voting for local officers continues to be denied.

The day after Ernest Hemingway called it off, I was whirling with things I wanted to say about this author who made the greatest impact of his era.

I wanted to see if I could get down in writing something I've been sure of about this singular man; that he had as much influence over the relatively unlettered like me as he had over the

People who wouldn't recognize a passage in one of his novels they'd been told it was written by someone named Ernest whose last name began with H felt good because somewhere a writer named Hemingway whose first name began with E was having a snorting good time. The improbable had come to pass and a man could make enough money doing what Hemingway 'did, which was to write stories to suit himself, to live first-class.

These admirers could have put in their eye what they knew about his writing, but they clung to the thing that loomed largest in their minds, that a writer who wrote as he pleased and when he pleased could go gadding about the world taking a nip here and a nip there, have hair-raising adventures and be lionized at literary teas whenever he cared to attend them.

It pleased them that he had boosted himself beyond the reach of the people who cast opprobrium at the drop of a slur and could afford to be contemptuous of public opinion.

All of this I had in mind to say about Ernest Hemingway, who had looked the wrong way down the barrel of a loaded shotgun at his place in Sun Valley, Idaho. But it never panned out, because I had too many other things to do.

The slip of paper I fill out each morning with a list of the things crying for attention said I should be thinking about sending various and sundry cards to various and sundry people in commemoration of various and sundry occasions;

Bringing home two electric light sockets for lamps that had been blinking off but never on because something in their socket mechanism had gone sour:

By TRUMAN TWILL which would mean remembering to bring the current edition of the

New Yorker to the office; Making certain not to let another day pass into limbo without cleaning the trap in the wash-

bowl in the upstairs bathroom; Asking the filling station man about making good on the storage battery purchased last week for the garden tractor because said battery's case cracked the first time said battery was used on

Inquiring about the best way to remove soap scum from a bathroom shower curtain made of a fabric that cannot be cleaned in a washing machine;

said tractor;

Being sure to pop into the barbershop and get pruned back to respectability, without putting it off another month. Taking a carton of used clothing to the lady who is always looking for used clothing to sell for the support of her favorite chari Copying down the up-to-date address of people who formerly lived in Forest Hills, N.Y. I never did get around to what I wanted to say about Ernest Hemingway, but it's nice to know he could have a snorting good time writing what he wanted to write and never being concerned about haircuts and sink traps. And on top of that to be a good enough writer to get prizes and praises.

Miss Bonnie Lee Lohr and Pfc. Dennis C. Johnson pledged their marriage vows Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in St. George's Catholic Church of Lisbon.

Pattern

The Rev. William H. Hohman officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with palms, grape ivy and ennanced with twin vases of white gladioli and majestic daisies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster J. Lohr of RD 3. Lisbon, and the bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Grace Johnson of Sherman St., Lisbon, and the late Edmund C. Johnson.

Presiding at the organ was Miss Deborah Lodge. She played 'Mother At Your Feet is Kneeling," while the bride placed a bouquet before the Blessed Virgin and "Evening Prayer" was played while the wedding vows were said.

Mr. Lohr escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her ballerina-length gown was fashioned of taffeta. Traffic Toll

The death rate on the highways slackened late Tuesday, Council officials said the homeward bound traffic was the heaviest in history for the final hours of any holiday. They said the fatality rate dropped from an hourly average of between five and six to about two to three.

Estimated 450 Deaths

The council, in a preholiday statement, had estimated a traffic death toll of 450.

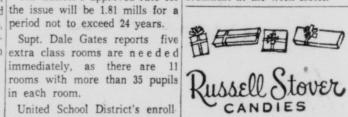

This year's Fourth of July holiday traffic count compared to 462 for the recent four-day Memorial Day period, a record for that holiday. In last year's three-day observance of Independence Day traffic deaths totaled 442. RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)-An aer- Three deaths in fireworks were

Program Scheduled On 'Ohio's Future'

LISBON - Representatives of granges, service clubs and other organizations will meet at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at Lisbon Grange Hall to discuss "Ohio's Future."

The agricultural extension service staff will explain the project and make plans for a series of four discussion meetings by local groups in the fall.

Topics to be discussed include the importance and inter-relations of agriculture, business and labor; the place of the individual and the government in making adjustment to rapid changes in the economic society; the importance of land and water resources in Ohio's rapidly changing agricultural and industrial growth, and changes in living pattterns as a result of this growth.

The project is open to all men and women, rural and urban.

Emotional control is needed not only by the child with an ulcer, but by his parents, teachers and others who deal with him. Constant correcting and demanding creates stress and tension in the home that leads to ulcers.

Repeat Performance

If you get mumps on one side, can you get them on the other? Probably yes, answers a doctor-expert for the American Medical Association. But it isn't very likely. If a mumps virus strikes one side, there is some general body protection against new attacks, but not as much as there would be in a case of measles. for instance. But several virus agents or bacteria can cause the swelling of mumps, and diagnosis of a first or a second attack may

Contest Shapes Up For Presidency Of United Church

PHILADELPHIA (AP) brisk, two-way contest shaped up today for the presidency of the newly constituted United Church of Christ, its highest administrative office.

Rank-and-file forces put the Rev. Dr. James E. Wagner, of Philadelphia, into the race, challenging a nominating commttee's choice, the Rev. Dr. Ben M. Herbster, of Norwood, Ohio.

The balloting comes this afternoon, a day after the constitution of the new 2-million-member denomination was declared in ef-
